Rami is 58 years old. He was never a combat soldier.

But he will fight to save a life.

On October 7th, a friend called him. The friend asked Rami to save a boy. The boy was in danger. The boy was at the Nova Festival.

Rami got in his car and drove to the Nova Festival. It was very dangerous.

On the way, Rami saw many young people running. They were running fast. They were scared. They were running away from terrorists.

He knew something very bad was happening.

Rami found the boy. He found more people who needed help. Rami found 15 people who got in his car! He took them to his home.

Then more parents and friends sent Rami messages. And more people from the festival asked to be rescued. They sent him their location.

They begged for help. Everyone begged to be saved.

Rami asked his son-in-law to help. Rami and his son-in-law drove back and forth for two days. It was dangerous. It was very dangerous because of the many terrorists. They rescued more and more people.

Rami's neighbors gave them food. The people from the festival stayed with the neighbors.

Rami also knew all the backroads in the area. Backroads are small, quiet roads that most people don't use. These are roads that many people do not know. Some roads are hidden. Some roads are hard to find.

Rami used these backroads to keep away from danger. He used these backroads to keep away from the terrorists.

Rami was calm and knew the area very well. He saved many people.

Rami saved more than 750 people.
